

NARBERTH LOSERS IN GREAT BATTLE

Berwyn Shaded Local Team
by Close Score of 7-6
Saturday.

WAS 11-INNING SCRAP

BY JOHN UBERTI

On July 21, under threatening skies, nimbus-stratus clouds hovering overhead, a ridiculous crowd of 200 witnessed Berwyn defeat Narberth in a hectic battle; undoubtedly an encounter never seen before this season, an epochal duel of the diamond. From the very first inning until the last heave of the final frame Freddy Jauss, Harrowgate hurler, on the mound for Narberth, and Henry Vogel on the hill for Berwyn pitched one of the most sensational games ever seen outside of the American and National League. The fine field performance of both teams aided in making the duel as thrilling as it was. Inning after inning the magnificent Jauss took the box to display phenomenal moundsmanship, but the valiant Vogel was the hero as he held the Walzer-men at bay.

The Hilldale game and the House of David fray, drawing a total crowd of 4200, did not contribute the artistic touch to baseball as did this duel of the day, and only the small aggregation can relate the story, the tale of this encounter and 2000 will bite their lips at the thought of their negligence.

The fact that the box score reads: 13 hits off Jauss and 12 off Vogel speaks for itself in proving what a colorful meet that was.

Townsend out in right field and Fleck pulling them in out in center were the stellar performers of the day; while Thomas, formerly of Narberth, fielding for the visitors, and Degon, star in many frays of past years, was the same ideal example of a ball player for the rival team.

In spite of the small crowd, unusual rooting featured the grandstands for both sides; each side rooting at intervals as Narberth tied the score and Berwyn immediately passed the mark.

Following is a description of the rare spectacle:

McMonagle legged it to first and the imported Lindsay lined to right. Babb singled to deep short and Mac came home. One run.

In the second Master singled and Hampshire did likewise, followed by Jauss' walk, jamming the pathways. Walt took to the pentagon as McMonagle bunted. One run.

The third frame brought on the discussion which resulted in the game being continued under protest.

After Connel walked, Shorty Degon singled on Humphries' fumble. Brooks grounded to Master, filling the bags and Coaker hit high to Lindsay, the latter sprawling to the ground after receiving the pop, the pill slipping from his hold after he slid a few feet on his side and Connel kept the fireworks as he ran on to the platter. The subject of controversy was whether Degon's high drive resulted in an out, Narberth claiming it so as

Days When 90 Per Cent. Vote Was Cast Recalled by Old Newspaper

When we published a story of the national scope of two local nurseries, we asked our readers for suggestions for further "feature" articles. Mr. John K. Ketcham was prompt to remind us of an interesting paper loaned us many months ago.

Stirring memories of the days when 90 per cent. of the registered voters of Narberth appeared at the polls are aroused by a copy of "The Citizen"—an independent weekly for Montgomery, Delaware and Chester counties. The issue containing the report appeared in February, 1896, a year after the Borough of Narberth was formed.

The story of the contest is the only local news in the paper, but the battle between the Citizens' ticket and the Independents was an exciting one, as shown by the fact that of the 123 eligible voters, 111 cast their ballots.

Home-Buying Plan Will Inspire Co-operation in Entire Community

CHRIS KOCH
President of the Narberth
Board of Trade and a sponsor of home-buying movement.

An educational campaign, which will point out the advantages of home buying, will be set forth in OUR TOWN, with next week's issue. It is a plan that has general recognition and is approved by business leaders.

Commenting on the idea, Chris Koch, president of the Narberth Board of Trade, and one of the leading exponents of community co-operation on the Main Line, said:

"The idea of boosting the home merchants and stimulating community spirit, is an excellent one. Such a campaign will bring the attention of the community to the many advantages to be found in patronizing home stores. Also, such a campaign acquaints the people with the buying possibilities in their home town.

"Let us trace the dollar bill in circulation in our own community. When it is spent here, it goes to the merchant and he in turn uses it for other expenditures—rent, light, employees' wages, maintenance of delivery service, etc., and the others in turn spend for the necessities of life and home essentials. If the people here could travel with a dollar bill in its circulation at home, and actually see the number of hands which handle the dollar, they would never hesitate in doing all their buying in their own community.

"Only by co-operation will a community thrive. And it should be remembered that every dollar spent in Narberth means increased home valuations, increased service from the merchants, greater stocks or merchandise, and general prosperity for all."

V. F. W. ORGANIZE

Plans For Lower Merion—Narberth Post to be Made Tuesday.

All Lower Merion and Narberth residents who are veterans of foreign wars fought by the United States, are invited to attend a meeting Tuesday night in the Cynwyd fire house, when further plans will be made to organize a Lower Merion Post of Veterans of Foreign Wars. The Active Members' Association of the Bala-Cynwyd Fire Company have offered their room as a meeting place for the new organization, until more permanent quarters may be secured.

Among national officers of the V. F. W., who are expected to attend the meeting, is Arthur T. Morrissey, Department Vice-Commander for Philadelphia. Also to be present are veterans of the Herbert G. Sparrow Ship, Camden all-naval post.

Preliminary plans for formation of the new post—the only one on the Main Line—were made at a meeting held last Thursday night at the home of Dr. Frank E. Boston, 33 Old Lancaster road, Bala. Daniel L. Hickey, 275 Montgomery avenue, Cynwyd, is one of the veterans active in promoting the organization.

UNDERGOES OPERATION

"Patsy" Ignatius Mullin, 204 Edgemont road, Ardmore, Lower Merion Police Lieutenant, is recovering from an operation for tonsillitis performed last Tuesday at the Bryn Mawr Hospital. Tuesday of this week his two children were patients at the hospital, for the removal of their tonsils, also.

LIST FEW DISEASES

Only eight cases of contagious disease were quarantined in Lower Merion the past week. According to Health Officer M. E. Reynolds they were four of German measles and two each of measles and mumps.

BILL DUER SAFE

Letter Indicates Runaway Boy Tried to Ship Aboard a Boat.

William W. Duer, Jr., who disappeared two weeks ago from his uncle's home at Atlantic City, is safe, according to a letter received by his mother.

A special delivery communication reached Narberth Sunday afternoon, indicating that Bill had failed to get a job on a vessel, and instead of returning home had secured a position somewhere at the shore.

The letter indicated that he would not return home until he had made good in his new position. His family do not know where he is, but believe it may be Atlantic City.

The strange disappearance of the 18-year-old Lower Merion student set up a police search through the south Jersey resorts and nearby cities. Newspapers carried stories of his disappearance and rewards were offered for information, as foul play was feared.

WILL MAKE LAKE

Mecke Plans Four-acre Pool for All-year Use at Stratford.

Plans are being made by J. Howard Mecke, Jr., Colonial village developer in Stratford, to construct a four-acre lake on his property, near Martin's Dam, to be used for swimming, boating and skating. Adjoining it will be constructed a 10-foot deep water pool some 350 feet by 30 feet, with a shallow gravel beach for children.

Work will be started immediately on the lake and pool in the hope of having them completed before fall. Features of the project will include a log cabin with a large fireplace for use in winter months for skaters, and 15 individual bath houses built to resemble those at Deauville, France.

DRAW FIVE JURORS

Names of five Lower Merion residents were drawn from the jury wheel to serve beginning September 10 on a panel of 24 for the September term of criminal court at Norristown. They are Percival Roberts, Cynwyd; Joseph Clegg, clerk; Richard S. Francis, contractor; Clarence L. Summers, retired, and Harold Sweeney, clerk.

TWO SMALL FIRES

The Narberth Fire Company was called out Thursday afternoon to extinguish a blaze on a dump at lower Gilpin Road, Wynnewood. There was no damage.

Thursday evening a small blaze at Wynnewood Station called the firemen from the radios, over which they were hearing the Tunney-Heeney fight.

Dr. Edwin C. Town has returned from a vacation at Mifflinburg, Pa., and has resumed his practice in Narberth.

ROTARY HEARS OF HOSPITAL GROWTH

Five in Montgomery, John M. Smith Tells Balcynar Club.

A picture of hospital work in America was given the members of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club Tuesday by John M. Smith, director of Hahnemann Hospital, Philadelphia. The speaker, a guest of Dr. William L. Martin, traced the history of modern hospitals from the days of the Crimean war, when Florence Nightingale took charge of the wounded in the conflict.

Her efforts were largely responsible for the great decrease in the death rate among the wounded at that time, and started a movement for better care and improved sanitary conditions.

After this war Miss Nightingale carried her work into England, establishing training schools for nurses. It was largely from graduates of these schools, Mr. Smith said, that American nurses were recruited.

From a small group of squalid places America has built a hospital system which provides one bed for each 255 persons of the total population, and includes 4322 general hospitals. Montgomery county has five independent hospitals with a total investment in buildings and equipment at this time of over $2,225,000.

The growth of the nursing profession, the speaker said, has not been accompanied by a proportionate growth in the number of doctors. At the present time, in fact, there is an annual decrease—4200 doctors are graduated each year, as compared with an annual death rate in the profession of 6000. This serious loss of medical men has resulted in a complete lack of doctors in many smaller communities.

Eighty medical colleges are now in existence, but emphasis must be laid on this work if a serious shortage of doctors is to be averted. Establishment of new schools and creation of larger endowments for existing institutions was recommended.

Pennsylvania has the honor of having the oldest medical school, at the University of Pennsylvania, in

CYNWYD MAN REWEDS

Marriage of S. W. Sargent to Mrs. Zonia Clarke Announced.

The marriage on April 12 of S. Worcester Sargent, of Cynwyd, was made known Tuesday morning at the business offices of Mr. Sargent, who is president of S. W. Sargent & Co., builders.

Mr. Sargent was married at Huntington, L. I., to Mrs. Zonia Mirski Clarke, formerly of Narberth. Both had been married and divorced before. Mr. Sargent was divorced last fall by Mrs. Marion Bigelow Sargent. The former Mrs. Clarke obtained a divorce on March 30, 1925, from Richards Clarke at Norristown.

OBSERVER SAILS

Charles Decker, Main Line Weather Man, Gives Last Report.

Clear skies and fairly cool winds sped Charles J. A. Decker, Narberth, on his way to Southampton, England, Wednesday. He sailed on the Mauretania, and expects to return on the Majestic towards the end of September.

"A large number of thunderstorms with abundant rainfall have characterized the month," said the Weather Man in his report for the past week. "To date the month has been rather warm." Last Thursday and Friday were hottest, with temperatures of 92 each day, and Saturday was coolest, with a low temperature of 62 degrees.

High and low temperatures were as follows: Last Tuesday, 90-63; Wednesday, 91-66; Thursday, 92-70; Friday, 92-74; Saturday, 84-62; Sunday, 74-66.

SAMUEL D. ELLIS

Samuel D. Ellis, husband of the late Mary Ellis, died Thursday of last week at his home, 326 Merion avenue. He was 85 years of age.

Funeral services were held from his late home Monday, and Solemn Requiem Mass was said at St. Margaret's Church. Burial was at the New Cathedral Cemetery.

A "WORSE" ROAD

Last week's issue contained an article in which J. Bedford Woolley, architect, claimed that Old Gulph road, north of the intersection with Hagy Ford road, was the worst piece of highway in this section.

Guy Croyle, local contractor, has come forward with a counterclaim. His entrant in the contest is Centennial road, leading off from State road.

"A goat," he said, "driven over one mile of this road had to be cared for afterwards by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals." We wonder what other road in Narberth's environs will be nominated for the title of world's worst?

HALF OF SUMMER SCHOOL FINISHED

68 Pupils Are Taking Work
Under Staff of Seven Teachers.

PLAYGROUND IS ACTIVE

The first half of the Summer School session ended on Friday, July 20th. Sixty-eight pupils are enrolled in grades five to eight inclusive, under the instruction of the following teachers: Nathaniel Krassenstein, Nettie Bittle, Beth Hayes, Elizabeth Hines, Dorothy Haigh, Helen Powell and Ruth Sutherland.

Owing to the limited time of the session, only the more essential points and fundamental principles of each subject can be considered. As far as possible the individual weakness of each pupil is studied and remedial measures employed to overcome difficulties.

With few exceptions the pupils in attendance are working diligently, either to make up work in which they have failed or to advance to a higher grade in September. The session will close on August 10.

The attendance at the playground has averaged between fifty and sixty daily since the opening on July 2d. The activities are under the general supervision of Frank Woods, who succeeds Thomas Clarke, in charge last summer. Mr. Woods is a graduate of New Haven and at present is instructor in Physical Education in the Holmes Junior High School, Philadelphia. Miss Purse and Miss Vandling have charge of the younger children.

The School Board held a routine meeting Friday night with all the members present. Principal George H. Wilson made a report on the playground and summer school. The Building Committee reported that it was going over the school thoroughly to make necessary repairs in time for the fall term.

MRS. LACEY WITHDRAWS

Announcement is made that Mrs. Naomi P. Lacey has withdrawn from the firm of Lacey-Nash-Egan, which conducts the Ye Oddity Shoppe, at Haverford and Forest avenues. Mrs. Mary S. R. Nash and Mrs. Marian H. Egan will continue this successful business here.

Mrs. Lacey's withdrawal is due to added calls on her time, which she felt must be given first consideration. Ye Oddity Shoppe is now making plans for fall merchandise installation.

MERCHANTS HAD A MIGHTY GOOD TIME

Board of Trade Hold Annual Picnic at Brookline
Wednesday.

BOWLING IN EVENING

When a prominent justice of the peace rolls in the dirt, viciously wrestling with a leading local electrician, the most casual bystander must realize that the event is one of importance. When, in addition, a dozen or so business men aid the scrap with advice and sly pokes at the contestants, it will dawn on the bystander that the annual outing of the Narberth Board of Trade is in progress.

The wrestling bout was not on the program. Later investigation revealed the fact that there had been a race across the baseball field of the Brookline Square Club. Fred Walzer and Walter Case had come in not so far behind Gene Davis. The judges divided, and the final decision was not satisfactory. Mutual insults led to a flying tackle on the part of Mr. Case.

Mr. Walzer was declared the loser by many of the witnesses, but as the affair had developed into a pretty good version of an Irish scrap, no reliance may be placed on these opinions. A movie camera was rushed to the scene and made an imperishable record of the event for Narberth theatergoers to judge for themselves.

The events leading up to the tragedy were field events. The first of these was a race from the home plate to second base, via the pitcher's box, which Gene Davis won easily. The fact that he had started some seconds ahead of the others resulted in a second heat, which was again won by the flying Gene.

The young men's race, the next event, was won by Sparky Strauss against a field of ten. A carton of cigarettes went to the winner of each event. Reporters witnessing the event wanted to award the laurels to Bob Maitland, of the Merion Title and Trust Company, who tripped on the second base and slid in ahead of the others. He came out of it, though, without the decision, but with some painful bruises.

Baird Caldwell won the baseball throw, and Walter Masters, the overhead baseball throw. This latter event was a tie at first with Caldwell, but was decided by a final heat.

On one side of the field twenty-four Haverford township police were holding a drill, and on the other side was a swimming pool. The picnickers found it difficult to concentrate on field events and marching drills in the hot sun with the sounds of splashing water so close. In a few minutes most of the merchants were pushing one another into the pool.

Supper followed, with no business of speechmaking to mar the occasion. President Chris Koch acted as master of ceremonies and saw to it that there were no ceremonies.

The evening found part of the party at pool tables and others in the bowling alleys. Interest cen-

Magicians Performed

On Saturday, July 21, Mr. Francis Hall was host to 75 guests, members of the Society of American Magicians. Mr. Hall, who is a past president of the organization, staged a dinner and magical show on the grounds of his Rose Glen Swimming Pool. After the dinner the guests repaired to an open-air auditorium where from a brilliantly lighted and decorated stage, various members entertained with sleight-of-hand tricks.

Dr. Endlich, as master of ceremonies, introduced the members. Among the more inexplicable and interesting tricks, were those of the president of the organization, James Shannon, who performed a Chinese act; a card trick by Mr. Hall that baffled everyone and an East Indian rope trick by Mr. H. Wagner, of Carlisle.

The Society of American Magicians is an organization including professionals and amateurs with 75 members in Philadelphia and vicinity.

CLUBS SPEAK AGAIN

Selections for July Are Made by Editorial Boards.

Once again have the various editorial boards met in solemn conclave and once again have their decisions been declared to a waiting public. "Juggernaut," "Bambi" and "An Indian Journey" are on the scroll.

"Juggernaut" by Alice Campbell is the selection of the Crime Club. In the last few weeks the Crime Club has become increasingly important and the vogue of the mystery and detective stories, whether or not any one understands the distinction between the two, has increased by leaps and bounds. When Crime Club members have read "Juggernaut," and they will not require a month for it, they will watch for "The Six Proud Walkers" by Francis Beeding, published on June 9, and "The Black House in Hurley Street" by J. S. Fletcher scheduled for July 13, and "The Mystery of the Blue Train" by Agatha Christie scheduled for July 20.

The Book-of-the-Month, continuing the alphabetic notation, recommends "Bambi" by Felix Salten. This is the story of a deer living in the Black Forest. It is said to have an allegorical implication, but it is not necessary to bother with that. The book may be read just for its charm and its poetic feeling.

"An Indian Journey" is the July choice of the Literary Guild. Waldemar Bonsels, the author, born near Hamburg of French and Danish parents, is exceedingly popular in Germany as seen by the fact that this "Indian Journey" though published in a rather expensive edition has sold in that country more than 350,000 copies. "Maya the Bee," an earlier book, is the one by which he is generally known. There have been few subjects recently which have aroused more discussion among American readers than the subject of India. But in this volume is something fresh and new. It is India with its wildernesses and its jungles; India with its mystery and its philosophy, combined with poetic skill.

Fire Threatens Cars

Great damage was narrowly averted when the Ardmore Fire Company promptly answered an alarm turned in 2:50 P. M. Tuesday by the Studebaker Sales Company at 51 East Lancaster avenue, Ardmore, in whose garage a 1927 model car had caught fire from a short circuit.

Chemicals were used to extinguish the blaze, which threatened to spread by way of oil on the garage floor, to other cars. The damage to the car was estimated at $300 by Manager Geissinger of the Studebaker agency.

The Ardmore Fire Company was called out shortly after 10 P. M. Friday to extinguish a blaze in a field on Cherry lane. A downpour of rain started at the same time, and the firemen and field alike were drenched.

The advertising experts have met in Detroit to tell the cockeyed world that when ideas fail, there is always the picture of a girl in a bathing suit.

OFFER REMEDIES TO KILL BEETLES

Trees May Die if Leaves Are Eaten for Three Years, Say Experts.

GIVE SPRAY FORMULA

Preservation of shade trees, shrubs and ornamental plants from the Japanese beetle is foremost in the minds of Main Line garden lovers, as the beetle invasion continues here. Warnings are being sent out by Federal, State and local Government and civic bodies, that the beetles can, by stripping trees of leaves, either kill the trees or so weaken them that they will become easy victims to other other enemies, such as fungi and aphids.

H. Gleason Mattoon, 425 Tregaron road, Cynwyd, who is in close contact with the Government's beetle laboratory, reports that parasites which prey on the Japanese type of beetle were imported from Japan in 1922 and 1923. These consisted of tachinid and parasitic wasps, both of which are said to be able to survive the winter climate of this section and to spell death to the beetles.

For spraying, the Federal authorities recommend a solution of eight ounces of arsenate of lead, coated with lead oleate, to eight gallons of water. This, according to Edwin McDermon, of the Bartlett Tree Expert Company, will not kill more than 15 per cent. of the beetles within the sprayed area, but it will stop them from destroying trees and shrubs; and by means of proper spraying methods, trees may be permanently protected.

Many competent tree experts, nurserymen and gardeners along the Main Line are being kept busy employing combative methods. Other devices, such as the Ellisco trap, may be secured from Main Line or Philadelphia hardware stores.

Gain Awards

Brewster H. Morris, Villanova, a Junior, and Evan M. Wilson, Rosemont, a sophomore, were announced Wednesday as winners of Haverford College Corporation scholarship awards for next year. The scholarships are awarded automatically each year to the four highest ranking scholars in each of the four classes at Haverford.
